

Outdoor Living with Natural Gas

Take natural gas convenience outdoors

warm

Don't limit yourself to natural gas convenience indoors. Take it outside.

Natural gas barbecue cooking

- From gourmet cooks to backyard chefs, everyone appreciates the cooking control and convenience of natural gas barbecues.
- Taking as little as six minutes to reach 600 degrees, natural gas grills are ready when you are.
- Never delay dinner because you ran out of propane; natural gas barbecues tap directly into your home's supply.
- Natural gas barbecues can be moved when needed, or permanently mounted in cabinets or masonry.

Pool and spa heaters

- You made the investment, so let a natural gas pool or spa heater extend your summer fun.
- You can enjoy your spa or pool in the off seasons because high efficiency spa and pool heaters deliver hot water twice as fast as electric models.

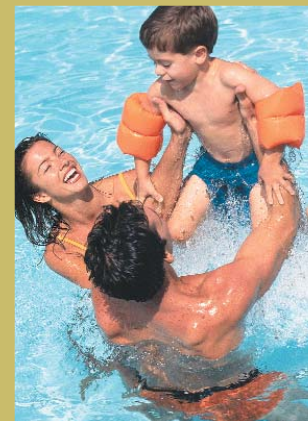

Outdoor lighting

- Natural gas lights add charm, value and security by attractively illuminating yards, driveways, and patios.
- Copper or cast aluminum fixtures offer years of maintenance-free service.
- Reliable gaslights operate independently of electricity, so they continue to shine brightly, even during power outages.

Patio heaters

- Banish the chilly evening at your next barbecue with the radiance and warmth of a natural gas patio heater.
