

Important Washington Conservation Update

Cascade Natural Gas Corporation has received reports of aggressive door-to-door home improvement contractors approaching customers unsolicited in the Eastern Washington portion of our service territory. These contractors may be representing themselves as CNGC staff or affiliates, but are unassociated with our Company and programs.

These vendors may be offering free or near free insulation via participation with the Company's Conservation Incentive Program, but the quality of the work performed by these contractors may not qualify for our incentives. If you are unsure of the identity of someone claiming to be a representative of the gas company or the Conservation Incentive Program, please call 1.866.626.4479 to verify their identity.

NEW WASHINGTON INCENTIVE REQUIREMENT

Effective August 1, 2011 all insulation and duct-sealing measures must be performed by a CNGC qualified trade ally in order to be eligible for a rebate through our Conservation Incentive Program.

*These rebates are open to qualifying CNGC customers with natural gas as the primary heat source. Please see our website or call for full list of eligibility requirements and to view additional incentives available through the program.

For more information about our incentives and to find a Trade Ally contractor, please visit www.cngc.com/conservation or call 1.866.626.4479
