MORE WAYS TO SAVE

There are many benefits associated with installing high-efficiency windows, such as decreasing drafts and improving heating and cooling performance.

To further improve comfort and increase energy savings, follow these tips:

- Seal cracks around windows and weather-strip doors and operable windows, to reduce the loss of heated or cooled air.
- Add a low-emission film to your windowpanes to reduce the heat entering your home through window glass.
- Use shades and blinds to control direct sun through windows in both summer and winter to help heat or cool your space.
